Description

The Lumina Daphine Terra Classic is a floor lamp of classical elegance. This light was designed by Tommaso Cimini. It is the result of Cimini's search for the expression of pure rationality of the relationship between shape and function. Lumina began manufacturing the Daphine lights in 1975. Since then increasing success and unanimous recognition of the Daphine Terra Classic have made an unsurpassed model of functionality and elegance through which it justly succeeded in entering into the history of design.

The floor lamp consists of two swivelling and rotatable light arms as well as a pivoting reflector. It is equipped with a switch that allows for two levels of brightness. Thus it is not only an on/off switch. The original model of this series is the Lumina Daphine which is a small scale table lamp with two articulated arms with friction mechanism suiting every environment in need of a discreet and non taking appearance as well as a calming and tightened image.

The Lumina Daphine Terra Classic solves the problem of illuminating selected places and reading areas in a simple manner. For those looking for a light applicable anytime and anywhere, the Daphine Terra Classic is a treasure, a testimony to our history, a symbol of our time and a projection of our future.
